

*If you have received a positive COVID-19 test, Public Health will perform the needed verifications, then contact all persons that you have been in contact with who have a medium to high level of risk.