

ANG 101 APPLIED ENGLISH GRAMMAR
(3 crédits)

PRÉALABLE : ANS515 ou ANG100

Nombre limite : 60 étudiantes ou étudiants

DESCRIPTEURS :

Objectifs : Maîtriser les principales structures de la grammaire anglaise; développer une compétence professionnelle pour identifier, catégoriser et faire l'analyse des erreurs dans ses propres textes et ailleurs; se familiariser avec la terminologie anglaise afin de pouvoir décrire les erreurs grammaticales pour des buts professionnels tels que l'enseignement, la traduction et la révision.

Contenu : Étude détaillée de la grammaire anglaise et de sujets connexes : catégories grammaticales, analyse logique, erreurs courantes, etc. Correction d'erreurs grammaticales. Caractéristiques d'une variété de grammaires. Techniques d'autogestion de l'apprentissage.

AUTRES INFORMATIONS GÉNÉRALES

Pour vérifier si cette activité pédagogique est offerte à la présente session, consulter l'horaire sur le site de la Faculté des lettres et sciences humaines à la rubrique Études (<https://www.usherbrooke.ca/flsh/etudes>).

ANG 101 APPLIED ENGLISH GRAMMAR

Description

ANG 101 provides a descriptive analysis of the principal aspects of the English grammar system. ANG 101 also provides students with the opportunity to apply their acquired grammatical knowledge to prescriptive exercises based on common grammatical and syntactical, errors in English.

Objectives

- The student will be able to identify, describe, classify, and analyze the parts of speech and the syntactic elements of the English language.
- The student will be able to define grammatical terms and apply the definitions to analyses of common grammatical errors in English.
- The student will be able to identify, label, correct, and justify the correction of basic grammatical and syntactical errors for professional purposes such as TESL and editing and revising texts in the fields of translation and technical writing.

Content

- The Parts of Speech
 - nouns, noun phrases, and pronouns
 - modifiers
 - linking and action verbs, verb phrases
 - principal parts of verbs
 - clauses, verbals, and verbal phrases
- Sentence Structure
 - subject, direct object of verb, indirect object of verb, subject complements, and object complements
 - five basic sentence patterns

Procedure

Lectures, readings, practice exercises, in-class correction, tests.

Workload

Weekly readings and exercises, 3 tests, final exam.

ANG 101 APPLIED ENGLISH GRAMMAR

Evaluation

Test #1	20%
Test #2	20%
Test #3	20%
Final exam	40%

Texts

Kerr, Thomas. Forms and Functions: The Anatomy of English Verbs. Edmonton: Westbridge Communication Inc. 2011.

Read, Hugh D. Clear and Concise: Communication Skills for Intercultural Students. Edmonton: Westbridge Communication Inc. 2006
(course pack modules 1-6 only)

These texts will be available at the University COOP.

Reference Bibliography

Close, R.A. A University Grammar of English Workbook. Harlow UK: Addison Wesley Longman Limited. 1993.

Quirk, Randolph and Sidney Greenbaum. A University Grammar of English. Harlow UK: Addison Wesley Longman Limited. 1998.